

I applaud any effort to bring choice to TV cable! There is so much junk out there that I'm am given (with no choice that someone must be getting some kickback. Let the people decide what they want to pay for and maybe we can have better programming. So many channels and still nothing to watch!

I'm not a Nascar fan or MTV nut. I'd like to pay a flat fee for a certain amount of channels then given a vast array to choose from. If some channels cost more, give them a value. I'd rather choose 5-10 quality channels than have 50 channels of NOTHING!
